Making Thanksgiving a Jewish Holiday

My Rabbi used to say that Thanksgiving was one of the most important holidays on the Jewish calendar. He labeled it "Homecoming Shabbat." When home from college for Thanksgiving break I would come to synagogue, catch up with friends, and spend quality time with my family. My Rabbi's experience taught him that when students went away to college or moved from home, Thanksgiving was the one time of year they all came back. It was a moment during the year when our Jewishness and our Americanism could be celebrated fully in one swoop.

The Zohar teaches; "When a piece of wood is burning and its light is dull, what is done? It is shaken well and its flame becomes bright. Likewise a student frequently becomes bright when moving from one school to another." Our children, as they leave for college, will become wiser and enlightened. They will also be tempted and confused. Their Minnesota homes will become less about a place they have to sleep (which it might have been in high school) and more a place they find warmth and regroup. The synagogue can help with that comfortable home feeling and rejuvenation.

Rabbi Shavit-Lonstein, Joshua Fineblum, and I have begun a new journey for the synagogue by visiting college students at the University of Minnesota and University of Wisconsin-Madison. It is also our goal to eventually visit students in other cities as well. As we continue this venture throughout the years we hope to add more colleges and universities to our list to make sure our college students know they are still a part of the Temple of Aaron community. Temple of Aaron will continue to be their home when they return to Minnesota for Thanksgiving break or after their studies are through.

As the clergy and staff set off to various colleges and invest ourselves in their journey, we hope they will invest themselves in the Temple of Aaron. To do this I encourage our synagogue members to take advantage of the Shabbat of Thanksgiving weekend, and make your family's attendance a tradition as much as turkey and mashed potatoes. We should lead by example and show our children that Judaism is important at every age. By setting aside this one Shabbat as a time to come to services and see the Rabbis and familiar faces, we make this specific Shabbat a part of their Jewish journey into adulthood. And of course, having a Shabbat meal on Friday night will mean a great opportunity to eat Thanksgiving leftovers.

TAXY Sukkah Crawl

Thirty people attended the TAXY Sukkah Crawl on October 4. Participants met at Temple of Aaron and went to the Segal and Zelle homes before returning to our third Sukkah at Temple of Aaron. Thank you to the Segals and Zelles for their help in hosting the program. The group then went to Tiffany's for a fun social evening together. We are looking forward to our Next event on November 17. More information to follow...

Cantor's Column

We are coming up to the holiday of Thanksgiving. We have so much to be thankful for, and I know I do as well. I am thankful for this loving congregation who has given me 23 years of being able to serve and be there for each and every one of you. I am thankful for my children and for what God may have in store for all of us. The Days of Awe impacted me more deeply this year because it was my final one in Saint Paul. I have been reflecting on the past year and look forward with enthusiasm about starting a new chapter in my career.

The changing status of my children combined with the changing needs in our community make it the perfect time for me to start a new journey. I am excited to announce my son Joshua has graduated from college and looks to begin Cantorial School next year. My twins Shelly and Michael will graduate from Highland Park High School in St. Paul in 2013 and will be starting college the following fall.

My family and I want to thank everyone at Temple of Aaron for supporting us for over two decades. You have displayed caring and love and we feel exactly the same way. I hope to see each of you at my upcoming honoring oneg December 14, 2012. In the meantime, settling my personal matters, beginning my national job search (Cantor's Assembly and suggestions from friends and family around the country) and preparing my family for their transitions will be my main focus going forward.

This Thanksgiving will be a very special one for me and my entire family. It will be one where we can reflect and understand the true meaning of what this holiday has to offer.

The motto "You're always welcome at the Temple of Aaron" was especially true on September 7 when the Doris Club of the Upper Midwest held their annual meeting here. Some 60 women, all named Doris, came from Minnesota, South Dakota, and Wisconsin to mingle, eat lunch and tour the building. Hosting the event was Doris Rubenstein. Other members of the congregation involved in the program were Doris Webb — a new Doris Club member; Richard Strimling who served as tour guide; Karen Balto who was involved in catering; and Paul Najlis, who took the group photo.

HESHVAN BANNER: In memory of Ben Mirsky by wife, Rose Mirsky. Titled "Book" (Tony Lee Design). It honors Jewish Book Month and the book represents a person's intellectual opportunity to fly.

Opportunity of a Lifetime on Shabbat for Oneg/Kiddush

Temple of Aaron has a proud Shabbat tradition of building community by providing an oneg each Friday night and a Kiddush each Saturday morning. The tradition was very successful and driven by celebrating bnai mitzvah nearly every week. This worked well for almost 50 years. Demographics have changed the reality so we are greatly appreciative that Sisterhood has been sponsoring over 50 percent of the onegs and kiddushes. Men's Club has recently joined in and helped Sisterhood sponsor the Saturday Kiddush.

Members who are celebrating a special birthday, special anniversary, want to honor someone, or want to help the synagogue build community on Shabbat can fully sponsor or partially sponsor an oneg or Kiddush. Please consider investing in the range of $100 to $400. Please contact Executive Director Ken Agranoff and explore all of the exciting possibilities — 651-698-8874 ext. 106, kenagranoff@templeofaaron.org.

Support USCJ As They Help Us

USCJ is the national association for Conservative Synagogues throughout north America and we pay annual dues to them for each member. USCJ continues to do great work locally, nationally and internationally with our USY teen programs. In addition, they helped us recruit Rabbi Jeremy Fine and Director of Informal Education/Marketing Mark Gulner. We have placed annual USCJ dues on your November statement so please make an annual donation to support their good work.

As we move out of the High Holyday season each of us has had time to think about what this New Year will bring for each of us. As you continue to ask yourself what Temple of Aaron has for you and your family to get involved with please keep in mind the Jewish value of tzedakah as we have the opportunity to give back as a community with two amazing programs coming this month to Temple of Aaron.

Throughout the month of November you will have your last chance to help join with Jewish Family Services of St. Paul and other local organizations in the B'yachad program. This drive helps those in need in our community by giving them the essential things they need with some extras during the winter months. This creating of gift baskets for over 120 families in our area can only be done with your help. Any donations of New, Unwrapped items from the lists on page 7 would help benefit those people who cannot provide themselves with these items.

On November 11, Temple of Aaron will once again be hosting Kenyon Tzedakah, the Tzedakah Mall as we did two years ago. During this program six charities both here and in Israel will be presenting their organizations and we ask our young people within the school and each member to give to these charities on that day. See page 6 for more details about these charities and our meaningful program. The class with the most tzedakah will earn a prize. Thank you to Rachel Haim, Education Dept. Intern and Rachel Lerman, USY Social Action/Tikun Olam V.P. for their hard work in coordinating this program for the entire community. Please note that Temple of Aaron will be collecting funds and will make a donation on behalf of the program to the organizations involved in the project. We urge the entire community to come and take part in both of these programs.

Please join us in donating items and money to these important causes throughout this month of giving back. Toda Raba in advance for your support!

Midat Hachodesh:

Tzedek Tzedek Tirdof

The value of tzedek, justice, is one that is highly important in Judaism. The word itself is derived from the Hebrew root Tzadi-Dalet-Koof which means justice (doing the right thing), and refers to those who give money for the benefit of others. The root itself is the word Tzaddik, a righteous person who puts value in the needs of others. This value of giving tzedakah helps us define who we are as people and reminds us of Rabbi Hillel's quote in Pirkei Avot, Chapter 1:14: "If I am only for myself, what am I? But if I am not for myself, who will be for me?" Who and where will you and your family give tzedakah this year?

November Services and Programming:

November 2:	Prayers in PJs 5:45pm Got Shabbat Thanksgiving Style 6:30pm Teen-Led Musical Service 8:00pm
November 3:	5th/6th grade lead services in Main Sanctuary 9:00am
November 4:	Daylight Saving "Fall Back"
November 11:	Kenyon Tzedakah (During Hebrew School) Jr./Sr. Seminar 12:00pm

November 18:	Family Education 5th grade 9:00am
Nov. 21-25:	Thanksgiving Break, no school

Pizza in the Hut

Over 85 people came and ate in the Sukkah on October 3 during "Pizza in the Hut." It was a fun evening for everyone who attended from the entire community.

The Kinyon Tzedakah, Charity Mall, is a day dedicated to giving Tzedakah. Representatives from six charities will visit Temple of Aaron and give age-appropriate presentations about their organizations. The students will have the opportunity to learn about the charities and ask questions. They will then “shop the mall” with “ToA Kesef” (funny money) to decide which charities and how much they want to donate to each one.

Ofanim is an Israeli non-profit organization. It converts buses into mobile classrooms and introduces at-risk youth to the highest quality instructors and after-school enrichment programs. This year Ofanim will extend their reach to 2,350 deserving at-risk youth in over 50 remote villages operating just eight buses. Ofanim’s inspiring vision is to empower the next generation of Israeli leaders, scientists and entrepreneurs.

The mission of the Israel Guide Dog Center for the Blind is to improve the quality of life of blind people by providing them with safe mobility, independence and self-confidence through the faithful assistance of guide dogs. Israel has over 27,000 registered blind people, although unofficial estimates place this figure much higher. Of these, 250 are guide dog assisted, but this number is growing steadily as the number of graduates from the Center increases annually.

The Tikvah program at Camp Ramah is designed for Jewish adolescents with learning, emotional, and developmental disability. Tikvah campers are fortunate to have the opportunity to be involved in many special programs in camp. A buddy program pairs Tikvah campers with campers from the oldest group. Buddies learn about each other and work on special projects while making new friends. The programming is designed to increase independent living and self-help skills.

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society helps this chronic disease that can cause numbness of the limbs, loss of vision, and eventually the loss of the ability to move. The MS Society strives to improve the quality of life for those affected by the disease while searching for the cure. There are many people within the Temple of Aaron community who have been directly effected by MS.

Pet Project Rescue is a no-kill animal shelter that helps place homeless animals in foster care homes until they are adopted. All of their animals are spayed/neutered before being adopted to help prevent the over-population of pets problem that is increasing throughout the world. They not only rescue cats/dogs from off the streets, but also from local high kill shelters.

Keystone Community Services is a community-based human service organization in St. Paul, Minnesota, offering a variety of human service programs for all ages across our service area at multiple sites. Our programs include three foodshelves which strive to meet the growing demand for food and other basic needs services. Donations from individuals, businesses, faith communities and other organizations are critically important.

This program will take place beginning at 9:00 am for Toddler-6th grade. All community members are encouraged to join our 7th-10th graders at 11:00 am to hear about these amazing causes and give Tzedakah.

The class that raises the most money for Tzedakah will receive a prize.

If your child will be absent on November 11, you may still send money and participate in this synagogue wide program.

Goodman Family Helps Advance Temple of Aaron Technology

Dina and Charlie Goodman have made a donation with a matching challenge. They have elected to honor the memory of his parents Wendy and Steve Goodman. Wendy and Steve treasured friendships and building community. This gift will improve connectivity so everyone will be able to access the internet from all rooms within the entire building complex.

Teachers will be able to access all websites to help teach lessons to children and adults. People with smartphones will have more extensive internet access. Members who are relaxing in Capp Lounge, Fink Youth Lounge or Stein Hall will be able to send email for work or fun and go to their favorite websites. We will be able to conduct meetings with Skype from more locations.

Please help us with a donation to our Goodman Family Technology Fund. Gifts from $100 to $ 1,000 will help us meet the challenge and are welcomed to help us harness the power of technology.

Israel Rebounds from Yom Kippur Attack by Egypt and Syria — President Nixon Helps Immediately

By Dr. Steven Derfler

We all know where we were when war broke out in 1973. We were in synagogue, wrapping up the Ten Days of Awe, chanting the Yom Kippur liturgy. So were many Israelis as well. This holiest of holy days, when we seek a renewed relationship between God and our fellow humans, makes it somewhat unique in Judaism. As the ultimate day of the sacred, nothing is to violate its sanctity — except one thing, a life-threatening situation. At that time, from all the pulpits in Israel, the statement put out by the rabbis was that Israel was threatened with extinction, and therefore as a life and death issue faced the State, it was alright to break the fast, leave the synagogue, and protect the essence of the Jewish people. Ever since that day, Kol Yisroel, Israel's national radio station, broadcasts silence on Yom Kippur and, should an emergency arise, is prepared then to spread the word.

Egypt needed to regain its position of authority in the Arab world. It did so by conducting a daring attack across the Suez; coordinated with a Syrian attack in the Golan. The war would last from 6 October - 24 October, 1973. The Egyptians breached the Israeli Bar-Lev Line on the east side of the Canal. They re-entered Sinai 15 km deep with tremendous initial success. However, since the Egyptian military establishment was not prepared for an initial victory, the spearhead of the attack outpaced its fuel and ammunition supply lines and the offensive stalled; giving Israel the breathing room that it so desperately needed. The greatest tank battle the world had yet seen was fought at "The Chinese Farm"; 9-12

October. It's funny how stereotypes creep into the picture. Actually, the battle took place at a Japanese agricultural research station in Sinai, but, to the Israelis, they thought that the civilians found there were Chinese — hence, the name.

The gravity of the situation was lost on neither Prime Minister Golda Meir nor President Richard Nixon. A U.S. airlift over a period of 32 days ensured Israel's survival, and ultimate victory. The Israelis under Gen. Ariel Sharon counter-attacked on 16 October, with much of its success as a result of supreme airpower. They re-crossed the Canal in something called "operation gazelle," very little stood in their way to Cairo. They stopped at "Km. 101." This act was the first time that Israel entered "Africa." They trapped Egypt's entire Third Army on the east side, nearly 30,000 troops.

In the Golan, Syria would also have initial success. Syrian troops advanced nearly to the pre-1967 armistice lines. The Israelis withdrew and regrouped. They then engaged in yet another major tank battle, called "The Valley of Tears," that saw Syria pushed back farther in the Golan.

The eventual outcome was that Israel would occupy several dozen more square kilometers of the Golan. Syria's military capability was severely damaged. It would take a decade for it to recover.

Yet the cost was high to Israel. This small nation lost 2,900 soldiers. Every Israeli family was touched by this tragedy. It called for a major policy analysis once the dust settled. Both Israeli and Egyptian leadership saw the futility of war, and quiet steps began to be taken to end the hostilities. President Sadat of Egypt now could work from a position of strength to negotiate a peace with Israel. He had demonstrated that the Arab could fight equally with the Israeli — this concept was essential to the Arab psyche. UN Resolution 338 not only called for a cease-fire, but also for direct negotiations between parties. This was to implement the earlier Resolution 242. UN sponsored talks would begin at "Km. 101," beginning 1 Sept., 1975, allowed for troop disengagement in Sinai. This led to a reopening of Suez for the first time in eight years. For the first time, there were true glimmers of hope for a just and lasting peace between Israel and at least one of her Arab neighbors.

An international educational consultant, public speaker, archaeologist, historian, researcher, teacher and writer, Dr. Derfler has been uncovering the histories of Ancient Civilizations for 35 years. Tracing the development of western religions from their roots in the Middle East and Eastern Mediterranean countries, Dr. Derfler brings insight to current political and social events, bridging the past with the future to promote greater understanding between people from different faiths and walks of life.

Social Justice - Opinions from a Volunteer Committee

This page provides room for updates and views from a committee within the Temple community.

Brunch & Learn addressed Voter ID Amendment

On October 7th, a lively and informative discussion followed a talk by Josie Johnson, well known and well versed leader in education, civil rights, politics, research, and communication. Opinions both for and against the amendment were presented. Most participants left the session more knowledgeable and more aware of the complexities involved in this proposal on the Nov 7th ballot. The Social Justice Committee sponsored this event.

Social Justice Committee mans phones throughout October and first week of November

Throughout October and early November, members of the Temple of Aaron Social Justice committee continue to call fellow congregants to initiate discussions regarding the upcoming Marriage Amendment and to answer any questions that they may have regarding the issue.

The upcoming November election will include a proposed constitutional amendment concerning the definition of marriage. The Minnesota Rabbinical Assembly, putting the matter in a Jewish context, has issued a statement in opposition to the proposed amendment and is encouraging their constituencies to "vote no." Rabbi Shavit-Lonstein is a member of the MRA and voted in support of the MRA statement and our Temple of Aaron Board (as individuals) has reaffirmed this.

The Social Justice Committee also supports a "NO" vote on the proposed constitutional amendment requiring a photo ID and has engaged congregants in conversations regarding this unnecessary and extreme overhaul of our election system.

Mark Ritchie addressed congregation in October

Minnesota Secretary of State, Mark Ritchie, spoke at Shabbat services on Saturday, October 6 on "Spirituality and Democracy: What Guides My Public Service." Mr. Ritchie delivered a powerful sermon that included the fundamental values guiding the Minnesota democracy and a history lesson of how the Minnesota constitution was developed. As a former history teacher, Mr. Ritchie spoke about how Democrats and Republicans compromised to pass the constitution including removing a provision protecting the rights of African Americans to vote. It took more than another 10 years for African Americans to gain the right to vote.

Mr. Ritchie, as the chief state official responsible for the state's election system, encouraged all voters to carefully review both amendments before voting. He spoke about how Minnesota leads the nation in voter turnout and therefore should not take any action that would place obstacles in front of voters. Mr. Ritchie shared how important our religious values are to our commitment to building a strong community in Minnesota where we work together to make sure all Minnesotans have access to the most important aspects of life. Temple of Aaron is very grateful to Mark Ritchie for reminding us of how important it is for all of us to understand our history, the importance of democracy and educating ourselves about why our votes count so much.
